ANNOTATION FORMAT

The annotation format in the following pages presents concise, pertinent information on educational materials in Spanish and Portuguese that the Materials Acquisition Project has collected for its resource library. Among the items of information in each annotation are subject classification, bibliographic data, content, physical characteristics, ordering instructions, and price.

All materials are assigned Dewey decimal classification numbers and subjects. Alternate subjects are also assigned in appropriate cases.

Below the subject line is listed the main entry, which customarily comprises the call number and the author. If more than one author produced the piece of material, the name of the first author mentioned in the material is listed in the main entry. If no author is indicated, the compiler, editor, illustrator, translator, or title may be listed in the main entry.

Beneath the main entry is the imprint, which includes the title, co-authors, compiler, editor, illustrator, translator, and edition. Next is the collation, which contains: the number of pages, books, or volumes; kinds of illustrations; academic level; series (in parentheses); bibliography and glossary.

The body of the annotation describes in detail the content and physical characteristics of the material. In addition, it may suggest areas in which the material would be most useful.

Ordering instructions are located in the lower left-hand corner. They are coded to correspond to the U.S. distributors found on the front page of the publication.

Approximate prices appear at the lower right-hand corner. These prices are subject to change, and they may be increased by handling and mailing charges, especially if the distributor must obtain the material from either Portugal or Spain.

NOTE: It is recommended that materials be ordered either from a distributor indicated on the annotations of the materials desired, or from a distributor located in one's geographical area.
